A WORD IN HER EAR.

SEVENNETT, black & white.
In the hour I fondly saw,
And I should greatly wonder
Did you wear just like a man.

Maw, your sturdy purpose baulking,
Lays you Chester on the shelf;
Loudly as you have been talking
You are now talked out yourself.

Tyrannous must be his nature
Who refuses you a vote,
And can only contemplate your Acting as the glidy goat.

You, of course, can take a serious
View of things like politics,
And demand in tones imperious
In the world's affairs to mix;

And, if asked this very minute
My opinion of your claim,
I should say there's something in it,
With good reasons for the same.

But although I do not flout it,
I can see that you don't go
Quite the modest way about it—
That is why you're treated so.

Without posing as a subtle
Soul than any other one,
I perceive it's strange a butler
Has a vote when you have none.

But assaults upon policemen
Do not help you in your task,
And until such pranks you cease men
Will not grant you what you ask.

And besides, you've shown excessive Zeal for sense and sound finance;
Had you proved yourself "Progressive"
You'd have stood a better chance.

Radicals are little cattle
And are in the dumps pro tem;
They'll not side with you in battle
If you do not side with them.

You and I, though wishful we be Votes for woman-kind to win,
Cannot hope for help from C. B.
If we kick him on the shin.

Therefore you must, Suffragette,
Try, my dear, to mend your ways.
Otherwise I would not bet a Penny on you nowadays.

Also I might incidentally Put one little thing in print,
And allow myself quite gently
Just to drop a useful hint.

Suffragette, one thing's vital:
Change the name you now possess.
You require a better title—
What say you to "Voices"?

Mostly T. Pearce in the World.

First Chapter: "How did you come to hit the man? Were you going too fast?" Second Chapter: "Certainly not—he was running too slow."

Nell: "Somebody told me to-day that I was handsome." Belle: "When was that?" Nell: "To-day." Belle: "No; I mean when were you handsome?"

CREMATING THE DEAD.

The suggestion that bodies which have been dumped in the streets by the Chinese should be cremated has been made by the Medical Officer of Health.

In a lengthy minute Mr Lau Chu-pak advances reasons why this course should not be adopted. He urges that dumping is an "inhuman practice" and is contrary to the custom and tradition of China. In his opinion the domestic administration of the sanitary laws since

1891 has caused dumping to be resorted to and he declares that at the present time unless the Chinese surreptitiously place the bodies of those who may have died from some infectious disease in the streets, they cannot escape from the "trouble and suffering as entailed by the elaborate provisions of the sanitary laws." There is no need to quote largely from Mr Lau Chu-pak's minute as it has already appeared in our columns. But it is well to recall that in speaking of the recommendation to cremate bodies which have been abandoned he characterises the proposal as harsh and unsympathetic and says that such suggestions seriously affect the prosperity of the Colony. "This suggestion," he says, "is directly against the usage and custom of the Chinese, and not only will it not put a stop to the

they are harsh and unsympathetic and their action is calculated to alienate the better class. The matter has only to be put thus to show how untenable is the position taken up by Mr Lau Chu-pak.

We are asked to believe that the fine susceptibilities of Chinese who throw their dead into the street as they would dead dogs are to be offended because what they have treated as carrion is reduced to ashes. Of course the argument will not hold water. On the other hand we are quite in accord with Mr Lau Chu-pak in his demand for considerate treatment of the Chinese sick. Whatever measures are necessitated by sanitary exigencies should be carried out with supreme regard for the prejudices and convictions of the Chinese. Their traditions and customs should be respected as far as possible.

But Mr Lau Chu-pak should remember that that respect would be the more cheerfully accorded if his countrymen themselves were to respect their traditions and customs.

THE TYPHOON FUND.

GENERAL gratification and a not altogether blameworthy feeling of self-righteousness will be felt by residents day's CHINA MAIL. It is certainly a fact to be proud of that this compara-

LABYRINTHS OF THE LAW.

The attractiveness of the law for the litigant was revealed in the House of Lords on March 14 when their Lordships gave judgment in the case of Dakhl v. Labouchere.

Mr Dakhl, a doctor of medicine of the University of Paris, was awarded £1,000 damages against Mr Labouchere regarding an article in Truth, which described Mr Dakhl as a quack of the rankest species.

The case was taken to the Court of Appeal, where the defendant, it was decided, had succeeded in making out the possibility of a miscarriage because the summing-up, so it was suggested, was not of a clearness adequate to make it thoroughly intelligible to the jury.

On these grounds a new trial was awarded, and against this decision the plaintiff appealed to the House of Lords.

Their Lordships dismissed the appeal, upheld the Court of Appeal, and thus granted Mr Labouchere a new trial.

HALDANE'S ARMY SCHEME.

Attacked and Defended.

Mr Haldane has issued a further explanatory memorandum showing that the proposals are designed to meet the lessons of the Crimean and South African wars.

It emphasises the necessity for systematising the relations between the Regulars and the auxiliaries, and remedying the dangerous deficiencies of the latter. Otherwise the gap separating it from a steadily improving regular army will constantly widen.

Especially an urgent remedy is needed for the lack of field artillery among the auxiliaries, and of engineers supplementary to the services.

Finally it points to the improvement in the local forces of the Colonies as a result of the lessons of the war.

Unless we set our house in order, we shall be compelled to follow where it should be our pride to lead.

Mr Haldane, Secretary of State for War, in the House of Commons, moved the second reading of the Territorial Army Bill on April 9.

Mr Wyndham moved an amendment of which he had given notice on the 26th March and declared the scheme was ungrateful and incoherent, that it did not provide for the proper training of the Territorial Forces, and that it imperilled the source of recruiting for the Regular Army.

He appealed to Mr Haldane to reconsider his plans.

Sir Edward Grey defended the scheme and summed up the criticisms as a Militia opposition to the Haldane scheme.

THE BA BO AND THE CANGUE.

Referring to the restoration of the cangue and bamboo as means of punishment at Shanghai the Mercury of that Settlement says: "We are glad to notice that the use of the former mode of punishment has been restored. For a Chinese there is nothing so dreadful as to lose face, and the cangue is for a native of the Celestial Empire a far more efficacious punishment than the average European imagination. There is not the slightest doubt that the Mirel Court-Magistrate acted under orders from superiors, and we take this opportunity of congratulating those superiors on their movement in the direction of restored common sense and sanity. It likely will only go a step further and restore the bamboo to its pristine glory they will accomplish much for the good order of this Settlement."

SCHOOL FOR LOVERS SUGGESTED.

Instruction in the Art of Courtship.

The University of Chicago, which has been responsible for many startling proposals affecting everyday life, has surprised itself. Professor Henderson, a member of the university staff, has shocked even Chicago by advocating a school for lovers. He declares that engaged couples should be given expert instruction in the art of love-making, in order to lift modern courtship out of the state of barbarism into which it has fallen.

Among other courtship reforms he insists upon eliminating extravagance, flirtation, and the acceptance of presents. The women of Chicago are indignant at Professor Henderson's criticism, and the only man in Chicago who needs instruction in love-making is the professor himself.

"It was through reading about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in the newspapers that I was tempted to try them. The very first bottle made me feel better and after taking five bottles I was completely cured. It will give me pleasure to see my testimonial published for I wish to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all sufferers from the same ailments as afflicted me."

HONGKONG TIDES.

The tide table given below has been compiled at the Nautical Almanac Office in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of an automatic tide-recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Tsim Sha Tsui during the years 1887-8-9.

The zero of the table corresponds with the zero of the tide gauge in the Admiralty Office which has been found to be 4 feet 3 inches below mean sea level.

To obtain the depth of water on the tide gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add 3 feet 4 inches, and on the gauge at Lamont Dock, Aberdeen, add 10 feet 6 inches to the height given in the table.

April 20th to 26th, 1907.
